

Murray Grove: History and Your Story

Murray Grove exists as a living memorial to the lives and the Universalist faith of John Murray and Thomas Potter.

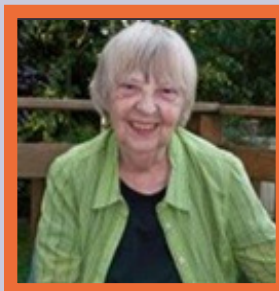

Since its historic beginning in 1770, Murray Grove has grown to be a haven and a home for Unitarian Universalists and friends, alike. We are proud to welcome UU congregational groups, ministers, artists, nature lovers, students, children, and numerous others into this place and this history.

We hope that you will share your legacy with Murray Grove. Like Murray and Potter, this place can exist as a memorial for your life, as well. Through your estate plans or life income gifts, you can create a lasting impact on the UU institutions you love.

Thank you for your interest in making Murray Grove part of your story.

Mary Ella Holst: John Murray Legacy Society donor

"I chose to leave a Legacy of Love for both emotional and practical reasons. The difficult work John Murray undertook in establishing Universalism in America deserves my profound respect and honor. I love Murray Grove's history, beauty, and hospitality.

I established a Charitable Gift Annuity to benefit Murray Grove. I receive a much appreciated, generous, and guaranteed payment every three months, plus significant tax benefits. I am proud to be a member of the John Murray Legacy Society!
